THE ELECTION AT PITTSBURGH. Scenes During the Day-Allegheny County

Pittsnungs, PA., June 18 .- To-day's election on the prohibitory amendment was never equalled for strange sights and sounds. The streets were filled all day with amused crowds watching for the brass bands of the antis and the infantile glee clubs of the Prohibitionists. As each would appear the crowds greeted them with cheers, and it made little difference on which side the people were. Everyone seemed to be in a good humor, and the election was freer from fights than any election ever before known. The wagons containing the brass bands of the antis were followed by those containing the glee clubs of the opposition, and each alternately filled the air with music. At many polls the Prohibition-amendment, 100 more than the highest estimate.

Alkadville, Pa.—Twenty precincts in Crawford county, including the cities of Mariotta, was thrown from 3 huggy last night, sustaining injuries from which he sold for the prohibitory amendment and and 533 against.

Frankelle, Pa.—Fifteen out of 44 districts give 1,430 majority for the amendment. This indicates a majority in the county of 5,000.

Brockwayville, Pa.—The vote here to-day was as follows: Brockwayville borough, prohibition, 1311 against an affrage, for, 12; against an amount of the prohibition, 1311 against an affrage, for, 12; against an amount of the prohibition of the pro

Bradford, Pa.—McKean county's majority for Prohibition is estimated at 500. Potter county is estimated at 400 for the amendment, Bradford city's majority against the amendment is 180.

Unionyow, Pa.—Uniontown gives 415 for the Prohibitory amendment, 28 out of 51 districts in Fayette county, give 1,828 majority for Prohibition. This indicates a majority in the county of 3,200 in favor of the amendment.

Burgettstown, Pa.—For prohibition, 142; against, 58. Suffrage amendment, for 20; against 143. There was a very light vote polled.

Indiana, Pa.—The vote in this county is a surprise to the advocates and opponents of the amendment. The majority for the amendment will not be less than 2,500.

nents of the amendment. The majority for the amendment will not be less than 2,500.

CLARION, PA.—The election in this borough and throughout the county was a quiet and orderly one. The total vote nearly equals that of last fall. Figures on the poll tax amendment are to-night impossible to obtain. The best estimates give a majority of 700 in the county against. Clarionborough gives 285 for the prohibition amendment and 88 against it. Nine precincts out of 37 in the county give a majority for the amendment of 3,000. The figures thus far exceed the best hopes of the temperance people.

HUNTINGDON, PA.—Out of fifty-six districts in the county, twenty districts heard from give over 500 majority for the Prohibition amendment, which indicates a majority of 1,000 in the county.

BELLEFONTE, PA.—The voting was light to-day in the county, a little over two-thirds being out. It was very quiet around the polls. Governor Beaver came home and voted for the amendment and left on the 50 o'clock train. Bellefonte gives 214 majority for the amendment, and nine against the suffrage amendment. Twenty-eight precincts out of 44 in the county give j.640 for the amendment, and nine against the suffrage amendment, and nine against the suffrage amendment, and nine against the suffrage amendment in the county, according to the returns so far received.

GREENSBURG, PA.—There was a fair vote polled in this county to-day. Both parties are claiming the county. Chairman Spiegel, of the Prohibition ists, says it has gone for the amendment onlow to 800. Rochester PA.—Beaver county gives from 1,200 to 1,500 majority for the prohibition amendment.

KITTANNING, PA.—Kittanning gives 185 majority against the amendment.

A SENATOR'S ROMANCE.

How Hon. Charles W. Jones, of Florida, was Driven Insane.

HE RELATES HIS OWN STORY.

A Beautiful Woman at the Bottom of His Troubles-He Alleges a Conspiracy by Irish Extremists to fore your readers a partial history of the wrongs and sulfering of myself and family, almost from my first entry into public life in 1875 until the present moment—a period of fourteen years. That we have been the victims of one of the most infamous conspiracies ever organized on this continent admits of no doubt. The object of it was my destruction as a public man. If ever there was a member of the United States Senate whose life and character and public services furnished less ground than that of any other for such an unusual and infamous proceed.

less ground than that of any other for such an unusual and infamous proceedings as this put into operation against me and mine, I am that man.

I was born of poor but respectable parents, and came to this country from Ireland a mere lad, led by a devoted Irish mother, whose maiden name was Mary Donnelly. From the time I first put foot on this continent until the present time I had to rely exclusively upon my own reservees for my support and my own resewces for my support and elevation. My lot was laid in the South, where I have resided since I was four-anno and learnately filled the air with music. At many polls the Prohibitors and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and music and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and for nearly two years pollute and music and musi and inally to the grave. For a year or more before this event my own mind began to give way under the pressure of domestic affiction, for I can truly say that after this vile correspondence had reached my wife's hands, followed up by the base alanders of bad society women, neither myself nor my children had any home.

SEERING SURCEASE OF SORROW. In the spring of 1831 the high social circles of Washington were excited over the arrival of a great beauty from Massachusetts, reputed to be very rich and highly accomplished. She stopped at the Ebbitt House and was under the wing of an old veteran "politician, who introduced me to her one evening as we game over from ies. She pinned a white sawer is my cost and asked me to call in achinery was not in operation Friday. In the flower in my coat and asked me to call and see her. I did so on Sunday evening and she took me straightway to a Unitarian church, where there was fine ing a fire broke out in and completely singing. This was the first Protestant guited Huyler's candy manufactory at blurch that I was ever in in Washing-ton, and it was soon in circulation at the seed of the control of the contr capital that the Catholic Senator had changed his religion in order to win the hand of the great beauty. The truth is, at this time, and for a long time after, I was off my mental balance and the fair one knew it. She remained around Washington for nearly a month, and every now and then I would get off a speech in the Senate to please her. When she left for home I went with her as far as New York, got off the train at midnight at Harlem, lost my way and strayed about until nearly daylight before I could reach my lotel.

I was now completely broken up and

The papers all over the country announced my engagement and approach-ing marriage to the New England belle. This was without any connivance on my part. I had visited the lady at her home part. I had visited the lady at her home about once a month for a year, remaining three or four days each time in the town in which she lived. Her family received me as her accepted lover, and I took my meals at her home and stept at the hotel. She wore publicly a solitaire ring which I gave to her with the initials of my name aggraved within. I met her IDA, MENTALLY DEFANGED IN DETROIT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 18.—Charles W. Jones, of Florida, after years of loitering in Detroit for a great part of the time, when he was expected to be attending to his duties as a United States Senator, seems to be insane without a doubt. It is still hoped that he can be removed quietly to his Southern home without legal intervention being sought by his friends.

Two weeks ago ex-Senator Jones addressed a note to the World, stating that in due season he would explain his prolonged stay in Detroit, and would expose a conspiracy which had clouded his career. As the actions of Mr. Jones have piqued public curiosity, the World offered its columns for his explanation, and this letter from him is the result:

I was then shipped off to Europe like a piece of dead merchandise, and scandals were put upon me there. My passage to and from the continent was arranged for by persons utterly unknown to me. I have the strongest convictions that I was to be assassinated while I was deprived of my reason.

I returned from Europe after three months' absence with my mind very little improved, as far as I can now judge. It was then that Ex-Mayor Thompson, of Detroit, introduced himself to me and of Detroit, introduced himself to me and invited me to visit his city. I accepted his invitation and became his guest for a considerable length of time. I was ban-quetted and feted as few public men ever were.

TWICE A SENATOR.

I think I can easily say that I am the only Irishman that has ever reached high official position in this country without any sid from the people of his own race. I took my seat in the United States Senate on the 4th of March, 1875, for the first time, was re-elected in 1881, and for ten years I labored in that high body for the good of the American people.

MUST HAND OVER THE MESSAGES.

CHICAGO, June 18 .- The sensational incident of the Oronin grand jury this morning was the refusal of William E. Bell, of the Western Union Telegraph she left for home I went with her as far as New York, got off the train at mid-night at Harlem, lost my way and stray of about until nearly daylight before I could reach my botol.

I was now completely broken up and had little to do except to drift about the country. I could not stay long in one place. My love for study and books was gone. In appearance I was strong and hearty, but my heart was bleeding at every pore.

My second oldest son, six feet high and seventeen years old, a great big baby, was next marked for destruction. At Christmas time he wrote to me and begged me to let him come to Washiagron to see his little sister. I could not well refuse. The winter this year was a terrific one. The poor boy was not half clad to meet it. The conspirators soon found out he was in the city. They put invenile murderers on his track. They kept him out night after night in the most terrible weather, so that he died from exposure after a few days' illness. This is my solemn conviction as to the cause of my poor boy's death. This additional affliction nearly unmanned me. THE MASACHUSETTS BELLE.

There is not a shadow of a doubt in my mind that Martin Burke helped to kill Dr. I Cronin, but whether the Winnepeg man is he cannot be stated positively, but there is not much doubt about it." The greatest happiness of my life was derived from my home, my wife and children, but when I lost my beloved companion and under circumstances which gradually produced the conviction that she was the victim of foul play—strong as my mind was, my reasoning and will power gave way, and I drilled about a helpless waif, incapable of any service to my family or the country.

Adjutant General Hastings Leaves Johnstown to Meet

MYSTERIOUS

GOV. BEAVER AT CRESSON

Where He is With His Million Dollar Commission---They Decline to State the Object of the Trip. Bodies Found Yesterday.

Johnstown, Pa., June 18 .- Just at 6 o'clock to-night Adjutant General Hastings and Superintendent Pitcairn, of the Pennsylvania railroad, left here in a special car eastward. Their movements were mysterious, and both refused to give out information regarding their trip, but from reliable authority it was learned that the two went to Cresson, where Governor Beaver and his million dollar commission is supposed to be quartered. The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad were here to day. They were examining the condition of their road, and were advising re-etion of their road, and were advising regarding the necessary repair to be made.

It is not definitely known here whether Governor Beaver with his commission will visit this place, but it is generally believed that he will.
Eleven bodies were blown up by the blasting to-day. The army of men on the wreckage at that point are rapidly clearing the place, but the contractors said to-day that they would yet have several weeks work before the contrac is completed.

The McManus Murder Trial,

In the McManus-Bresock murder trial at Wellsburg yesterday, a jury was secured and the evidence begun. The trial will be fairly under way to morrow. trial will be fairly under way to-morrow. The presecution expects to prove that the murder was the outgrowth of labor troubles and for this reason unusual interest is taken in the outcome. It is expected to be shown that McManus is a union man, while Bresock was non-union, and that the killing was the result of a quarrel between them on labor matters.
